GENERAL TERMS
A. EXECUTION OF PAYMENT ORDER AND VALUE DATES
1. Business Day: The day on which the Bank or, in the case of payment services, any other payment service provider involved in the execution of a Payment Transaction, are under normal operation. In addition to national holidays and holidays of international payment systems, local holidays are not considered to be Working Days, as far as specific Bank branches are concerned.
2. The date of receipt of a payment order is the date on which the Bank actually receives the payment order. Exceptions shall be made to cases of non-business day or subsequent to such time limit per day per trading network as determined by the Bank. In such cases, the date of receipt of a payment order is considered the next business day.
3. The Bank undertakes the obligation to transfer the full amount of the order for payments to companies/organisations and generally encoded payments without any deduction or discount, by the end of the next business day following the date of receipt of the order, at the latest.
B. PAYMENT ORDERS TO AND FROM OTHER BANKS
1. All payment orders to other banks in Euro or in Foreign Currency are forwarded through SWIFT. The value date is two (2) working days from the transaction date. SECTION B: DEPOSITS

GENERAL TERMS

C. Full / Partial Early Withdrawal of Term Deposits

1. Simple Term Deposits (Negotiable)

In early full or partial withdrawal, the interest payable to the Customer is reduced equally to the cost of early withdrawal of the amount withdrawn.

The cost is calculated on the amount withdrawn with a discount rate set to 2% for the period remaining until the maturity of the term deposit.

Especially for term deposits with intermediate interest payments, if prior to the full or partial early withdrawal:

- part of the interest accrued on the simple term deposit has already been paid to the Client through previous interest payments and
 - the cost of early withdrawal exceeds the accrued interest of the period that starts on the date of last interest payment and ends at the date of withdrawal,
- the Client promptly returns the interest paid up to the amount equivalent to the cost of withdrawal.

In case of an early withdrawal on term deposits with intermediate interest payments, the next interest payment takes place at the maturity date of the term deposit.

In any case, the cost of early withdrawal should not exceed the accrued interest for the amount withdrawn.

The maximum number of partial early withdrawals allowed in simple term deposits is:

- up to three, for Term deposits in Euro
- up to two, for term deposits in foreign exchange.

2. “Alpha online Term Deposit” and “Alpha online Term Deposit with Bonus”

In early full withdrawal, the interest payable to the Customer is reduced equally to the cost of early withdrawal of the amount withdrawn.

The cost is calculated on the amount withdrawn with a discount rate set to 2% for the period remaining until the maturity of the term deposit.

If prior to the early withdrawal:

- part of the interest accrued has already been paid to the Client through previous interest payments and
 - the cost of early withdrawal exceeds the accrued interest of the period that starts on the date of last interest payment and ends at the date of withdrawal,
- the Client promptly returns the interest paid up to the amount equivalent to the cost of withdrawal.

In any case, the cost of early withdrawal should not exceed the accrued interest for the amount withdrawn.

3. “Alpha Term Deposit with Bonus”

In early full withdrawal of the term deposit:

- on the interest payment anniversary of the product credit interest is paid in full to the Client with no reduction.
- on a date other than the interest payment anniversary of the product, credit interest of the current period is reduced equally to the cost of early withdrawal of the amount withdrawn. The cost is calculated on the total amount withdrawn with a discount rate set to 2% for the period remaining until the maturity of the compounding period.

The cost of early withdrawal should not exceed the accrued interest for the current period.

4. “Alpha Monthly Progress” and “Alpha Life Term Deposit”

In early full withdrawal:

- on the interest payment anniversary of the product the credit interest is paid in total to the Client with no reduction.
- on a date other than the interest payment anniversary of the product, the interest payment for the period is omitted.

6. Regarding Bonds (complex / non complex):
 - Commissions are calculated on face value of the bond. Commissions apply to the category of “Retail Clients” according to MiFID II and are exhibited at their maximum values.
 - Commissions are valid for the sales/purchases of bonds of the G10 currencies (EUR, USD, GBP, CHF, AUD, CAD, SEK, NOK, JPY, NZD).
 The concept of complex bonds includes Structured Bonds and Securities available at special pricing through the Alpha Private Bank Market Areas and the Alpha Bank Gold Personal Banking Service of the Bank.
7. Ad hoc pricing is implemented on Bond transactions for Professional Clients and Eligible Counterparties.
8. Special segment - related Price Lists apply to the Private Banking and Alpha Bank Gold Personal Banking services, complementing the current terms.
9. Derivatives: Offered by specific Divisions of the Bank under ad hoc pricing.
10. On demand research/analysis: The specialized and ad hoc analysis/research is carried out through the Bank's certified analysts and priced on a case-by-case basis according to the specific conditions of each individual request.
11. Safekeeping commission for securities in physical form is calculated on face value and pre-collected:
 - (a) In case securities are deposited within the first six months (i.e. from January 1 to June 30), the safekeeping commission is calculated on a twelve months basis (i.e. from January 1 to December 31). In case Securities are deposited from July 1 to December 31, the safekeeping commission is calculated on a six-months basis (i.e. from July 1st to December 31st). At the end of the six-months period, the safekeeping commission is calculated on a twelve months basis for the following years. The depositor is not entitled to receive proportional return of commissions in case securities are withdrawal before the year end.
 - (b) The calculation of the commission for the renewal periods is based on the face value of the securities on the day exactly preceding the beginning of the following period, for which pre-collection takes place.
