Press Release

Alpha Bank named “Best Private Bank in Greece” for 2018 by “PWM and “The Banker” of the Financial Times Group

Alpha Bank was named “Best Private Bank in Greece” for 2018 at the "Global Private Banking Awards 2018" that were held in London, on November 7, 2018, organised by the internationally acclaimed publications “Professional Wealth Management (PWM)” and “The Banker” of the Financial Times Group.

This award is a recognition of the consistent high quality that defines the Bank’s Private Banking services (‘Alpha Private Bank’), which meet Customers’ personalised goals and needs. It further highlights Alpha Bank’s commitment to providing quality services, by incorporating new technologies in wealth management.

The Alpha Bank Executive General Manager of Private and Investment Banking Ioannis M. Emiris, the Manager of the Private Banking Division Emmanouil Arzinos and the Assistant Manager of the Private Banking Division Nikolaos Polyzos received the award, on behalf of the Bank.

The annual “Global Private Banking Awards”, organised by PWM and The Banker, reward the best Private Banking services, based on qualitative and quantitative information collected from Private Banks worldwide. A committee comprising professionals and experts in wealth management from Europe, Asia and the United States is in charge of evaluating the information.
