Alpha Bank supports the National Health System in the fight against the Covid-19 pandemic

Alpha Bank actively supports the national effort in the fight against the Covid-19 pandemic, and stands by the doctors and nursing personnel fighting in the front line, covering the needs for medical and healthcare supplies at Intensive Care Units in three referral hospitals across Greece.

Specifically, the Bank provides the Thoracic Diseases General Hospital “Sotiria” in Athens, the University General Hospital of Thessaloniki “AHEPA” and the General University Hospital of Larissa with advanced technology medical equipment, including monitors to record patients’ vital functions, a digital X-ray unit, digital heart monitors, video laryngoscopes, bronchoscopes and ICU beds, as well as healthcare equipment, necessary for the protection of doctors and the nursing personnel.

The Bank had previously been in contact with the management of the hospitals “Sotiria”, “AHEPA” and the General Hospital of Larissa, in order to specify their needs and cover them in the best possible way. Alpha Bank thanks the management of all three hospitals as well as the State competent authorities, for their close cooperation in achieving the common goal, namely providing doctors and the nursing personnel with the necessary equipment.

Fully aware of its role and responsibility towards society, Alpha Bank will continue to support the National Health System in the fight against the healthcare crisis.

At the same time, from the very first moment, the Bank took all necessary measures to protect the health and safety of its Customers and Personnel, and has made full use of the modernized and comprehensive digital networks platform. Actively supporting its Customers, Alpha Bank is in the front line in terms of the efforts to restrict the consequences of the crisis and restart Greek economy.
